

verbs whose tense is that of the deepest past" because it took place so long ago, not because telling it that way will convey the story's importance.